French Braid

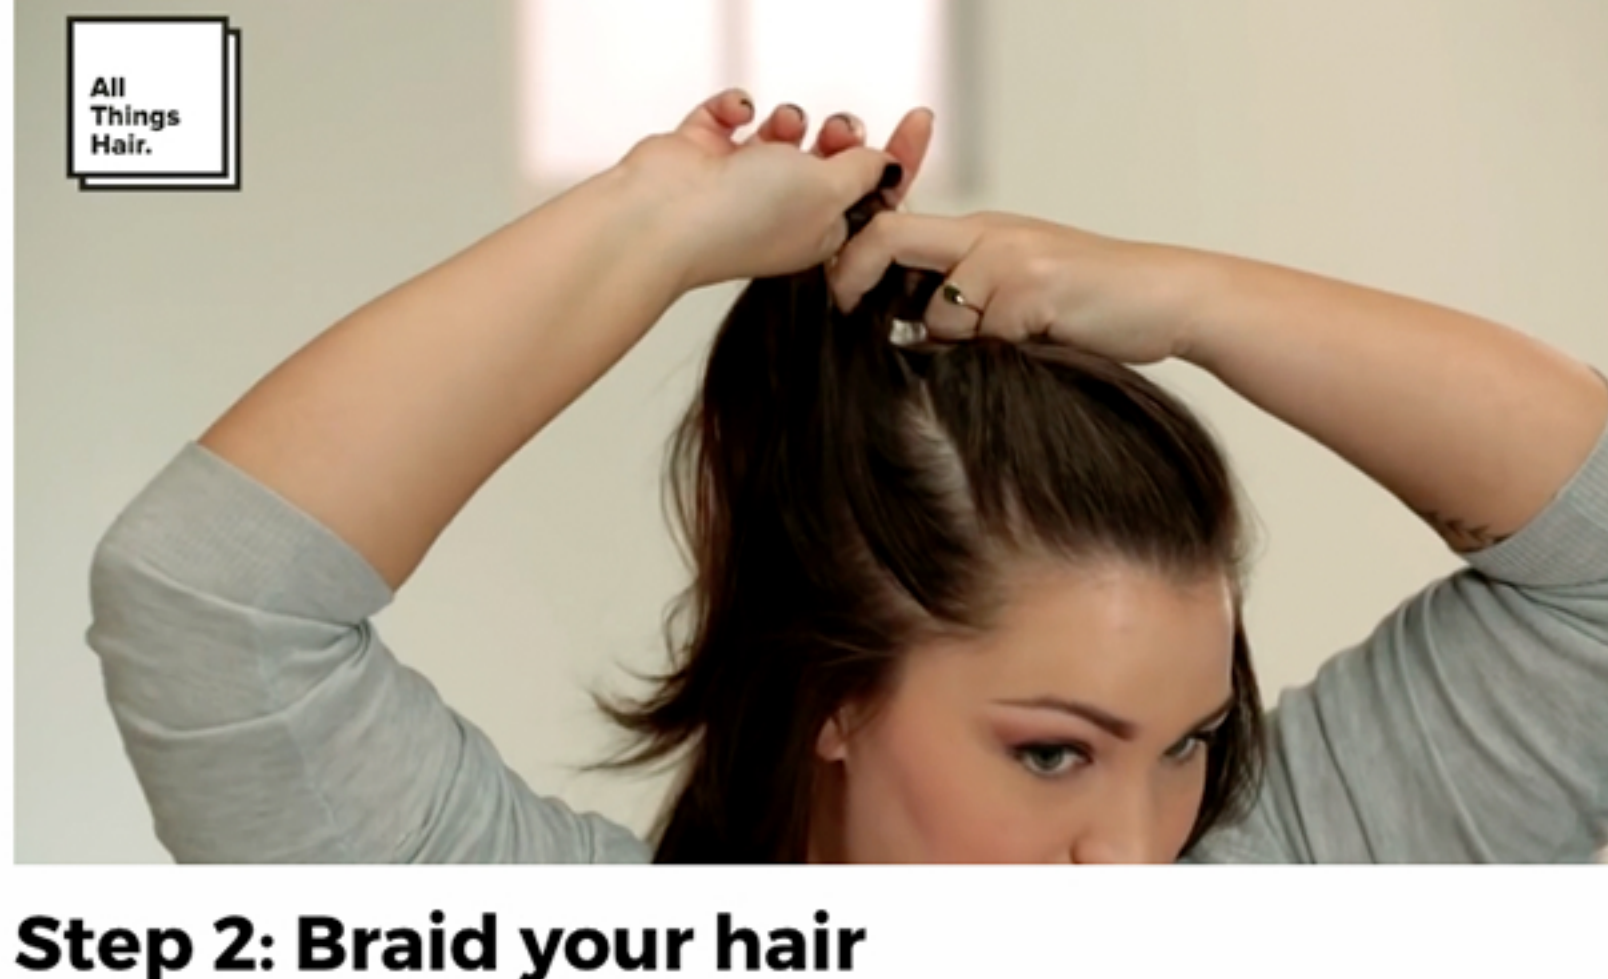

This year has been all about the braid. At last, all those plaits your mum used to do in your hair as a kid, finally has a proper place in your life. And it's shining bright, we can tell you that. Braids are all the rage all over the world, including some old favourites. Let's get into one of them, with the classic French braid.

Step 1: Prep your hair

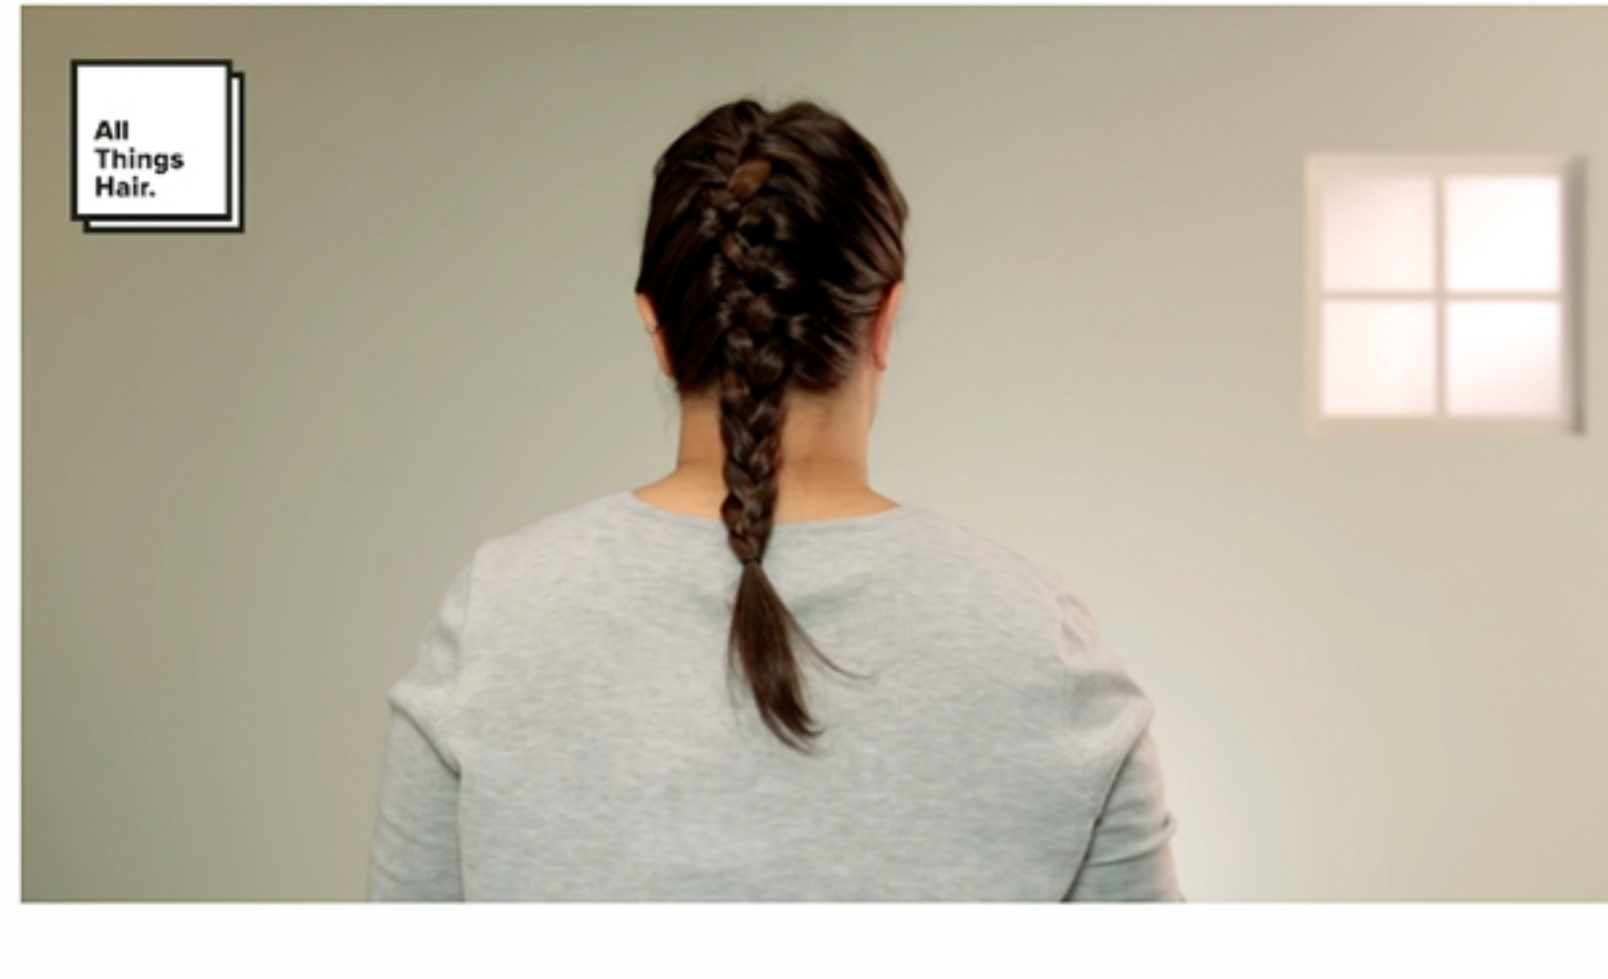

Braids involve a lot of pulling and tugging on your hair so you want your hair to be strong protected. For this we recommend you wash your hair with the TRESemmé Platinum Strength Shampoo and Deep Treatment Conditioner.

Step 2: Braid your hair

Comb your hair back and section off a piece at the top of your head. Divide the top piece into three and begin to braid. When braiding, each of the side braids should go over the middle braid. Then, as you are braiding drop off a piece on the side and take another piece of hair on that same side by running a finger through your hair. Add this sectioned off piece to the braid, over the middle piece. Do the same to the other side. Repeat these steps until you reach the end of your hair and tie with a small elastic band.

Step 3: The end result.
